

UNC Charlotte Parent Resources

CHILD CARE OPTIONS

Currently, there is no child care facility on campus.

However, there are a few resources available to search for nearby child care options.

Child Care Resources, Inc. (CCRI)

is a private, non-profit agency that is a go-to source for early care and education and school-age child care in the Central Carolinas community:

<https://www.childcareresourcesinc.org/>

Note that UNC Charlotte does not expressly endorse this organization. Parents should exercise their own good judgment when evaluating prospective child care facilities.

MECK Pre-K

is a county-funded pre-kindergarten program, free to eligible 4-year-olds:

<https://smartstartofmeck.org/meckprek/>

UNC Charlotte Human Resources

UNC Charlotte employees may also search for child care providers through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and the GuidanceResources tool:

<https://hr.uncc.edu/employee-relations/compsych-guidance-resources-employee-assistance-program>

FAMILY FRIENDLY SPACES

Atkins Library has two library rooms on the 2nd floor (206 & 209) called the ANSWER Scholarship Family-Friendly Library Rooms where parents and children can study and learn side by side. To use the space you must register in advance: <https://library.uncc.edu/node/824>

SCHOLARSHIPS

- ANSWER scholarships are awarded to women who are pursuing their first 4-year degree who have school-aged children: <http://answerscholarship.org/>
- To look for other scholarship opportunities, visit the University's Scholarship Office: <https://scholarships.uncc.edu/>

PARENT ORGANIZATIONS

For Employees

The UNCC Moms group provides support, information, and the opportunity to connect socially. To join, contact LauraWilliams@uncc.edu

For Students

The Student Parent Association (SPA) of UNC Charlotte was created to provide peer support and useful resources for student parents. For current information, search for the organization at <https://ninerengage.uncc.edu/>

LACTATION ROOMS

There are two designated lactation rooms on main campus. These facilities are open to students, staff, faculty, and visitors.

- “A Mother’s Place,” located in the College of Health and Human Services (CHHS), Room 305: <https://nursing.uncc.edu/student-resources/learning-resource-center>
- “A Mother’s Place, Too,” located in Atkins Library, Room G38: <https://hr.uncc.edu/employee-relations/lactation-room>
- At the Center City Building, Room 420 (4th floor) is currently designated as a wellness room, with priority given to nursing mothers. <https://centercity.uncc.edu/resources/wellness-room>

OTHER UNCC PARENT PAGES

ADVANCE Faculty Affairs & Diversity Office

<https://advance.uncc.edu/programming/programs/resource-s-all-faculty/faculty-work-and-life-resources/childcare>

OASES (Office of Adult Students & Evening Services)

<https://oases.uncc.edu/advising/parenting-resources>

Student parents can also refer to these beneficial resources:

Student Health Center (<https://studenthealth.uncc.edu/>)

Counseling & Psych Services (<https://caps.uncc.edu/>)

Student Assistance & Support (<https://sass.uncc.edu/>)